Overview:

The Water Warriors Vanquisher with its no-nonsense styling is solid water blaster that offers a good mix of power as well as conservation to meet virtually any need on the water warfare battle field. The blaster feels quite sturdy as well and its novel design allows this blaster to be used single-handed after being pumped though many may still prefer to use both hands, keeping one on the pump. With a good-sized reservoir as well as pressure chamber, the Water Warriors Vanquisher can keep up with pretty much any other presently available stock water blaster even including rarer and older models. Just be wary of the largest, true CPS-class weaponry.
